Concert Scheduled Tonight

• TONIGHT THE University Band will present its annual Spring Concert in Lisner Auditorium at 8:15 p.m.

The concert which is being given free is the next-to-last event in the Colonial Program Series sponsored jointly by the Student Council and the General Alumni Association.

Leon Brusiloff will direct the full concert band of 80 uniformed men and women in a program of concert favorites in the modern vein.

Donald Goldstein, featured piano soloist, will play Edvard Grieg's "Piano Concerto in A Minor" transcribed for piano and full band accompaniment.

Other numbers on the program include the following:

Three dances from
Gayne Ballet.....Katchaturian
Dance of the Rose Maidens
Lullaby

Sabre Dance

Caribbean Fantasy.....John Morrissey

Mood Mauve.....R. S. Howland

Finlandia.....Jean Sibelius

Polka from the opera "Schwanda" Weinberger

Dixie Rhapsody.....Leidzen

Prayer and Pantomime from the opera "Hansel and Gretel"

La Comparsa, Carnival Procession

Finale from the Fourth Symphony.....Tchaikowsky

Katchaturian's "Sabre Dance"

will feature a marimba duet with Jim Roamer and Bill Warner.

The program numbers will be announced and narrated by Director Leon Brusiloff in his inimitable informal chats with the audience.

University Band members have been rehearsing for the concert every Sunday since the close of basketball season. Many hours of faithful practice have been devoted to prepare this program in order to present free of charge some first-rate concert music to the students and friends of the University.

International Club Elects Officers For Next Year

Senior Prom To Be May 24; Class Week Plans Announced

• HIGHLIGHTS in the plans for the senior week announced this week by Senior Class President Chet Byrns are the reception given for the graduates and their parents by President and Mrs. Cloyd Heck Marvin and the Senior Prom given by the General Alumni Association.

To be held on Monday, May 24, from 10 p. m. to 1 a. m. in the main ballroom of the Shoreham Hotel, the Senior Prom is formal and the music will be furnished by Jack Morton and his orchestra. The Prom is a gift to the graduates from the General Alumni Association, who picks up the check for the affairs. Set-ups can be purchased at the Prom.

All graduates of the 1948 classes, February, May, and November are invited to attend the Prom. Janet Doidge and Nancy Giglio are the co-chairmen. Those wishing to attend the Prom are urged to signify their intention immediately by writing Janet Doidge, Strong Hall, 620 21st Street, N. W. Washington 6. This is necessary so that the Prom Committee can make the necessary arrangements at the Shoreham and also so they may purchase the favors and programs for the Prom.

President and Mrs. Marvin will give their traditional reception for the graduates and their parents in the Chinese Room of the Mayflower Hotel on Tuesday, May 25, from 8:30 to 11:30.

Byrns urges all seniors who have not yet paid their class dues to do so in Miss Kirkbride's office on the second floor of the Columbian House. He also stressed the importance of seniors writing Miss Doidge of their intention to attend the Prom. Members of the Prom Committee include: Charlie Baker, Sally Barrow, George Carter, Howard Gottlieb, Jean Gross, John Hammett, Judy Haswell, Lew Hoffacker, Ed Masters, Doris Matthews, Shirley Smith, Faye Trolson, and Bill Wendt.

• REGAL POMP, carnival fun, and student hospitality blended in the annual Spring Festival held here last Friday. In addition to over a thousand University students, about 160 high school seniors attended the festivities, as guests of the University.

Highlighting the festival was the crowning of Jean Hanson, Alpha Delta Pi, as May Queen in Lisner Auditorium. While Ernie Sult, accompanied by the Glee Club and Band, sang "Land of Hope and Glory," the twelve members of the Queen's court came down the aisle. The girls were wearing pastel formals and carrying white muffs decorated with pink carnations.

After an impressive blast of trumpets, the queen's two attendants, wearing white satin gowns and carrying bouquets of white sweet peas, walked to the stage. These two girls, Joanne Turney, Delta Gamma, and Virginia Teeter, Delta Zeta, were the runners-up.

The queen's procession began with Kathleen Martin, the flower girl, casting daisies along the aisle. Miss Hanson, the Queen, followed, wearing a white hooped-skirt gown and carrying red roses. The train of her long purple velvet cloak was carried by David Wilson and Michael Redding from St. John's Orphanage. When Miss Hanson reached the stage, Fremont Jewell, president of the Student Council, placed a crown of roses on her head, and proclaimed her May Queen.

Mortar Board Taps

The coronation ceremony was preceded by the tapping of new members for Mortar Board, senior women's honorary, stressing leadership, scholarship, and service. As Barbara Hanby, president of the 1947 chapter, read the activities and accomplishments of those selected, Mortar Board members went out into the audience and tapped new members by giving them the traditional cap and gown, and yellow rose.

Those tapped included Ming Chen, next year's vice-president; Nancy Alice Groves, secretary for 1948-49; Bess Blafkin Lavine, Mary Olga Longley, Virginia Ann Myers, treasurer for 1948-49; Doris Nahm, Phyllis Arnett Patterson, Ella Leuvenia Peel, Jane Elizabeth Shanks, and Dorothy Lucille Whitley, historian for 1948-49. Following tradition, Miss Hanby as past head of (See MAY FESTIVAL, Page 3)

It's Really Rough...

• UNIVERSITY BAND members have been rehearsing for their spring concert regularly every Sunday since the close of basketball season. This means many hours of faithful practice have been devoted in the preparation of this fine program of concert music in order that you the students may have free of charge some first-rate music.

Without recompense of any sort, without even a word of praise many times, these talented musicians serve the University and their fellow students in the guise of morale builders without so much as a thought being given to the question of building their morale.

Rebuff after rebuff has fallen the lot of the Band, and except for the courageous leadership of Mr. Brusiloff, things would not appear to operate nearly so smoothly. Most of the members themselves refuse to be discouraged either, as week after week they beg and borrow enough chairs to go around—often having to carry them clear across the campus.

Objections were finally overruled to the use of a piano by the Band's concert pianist in the rehearsal of a concert number because the piano might be taken out of tune.

The University knows that their University Band rehearses every Sunday. They know the exact time the Band members convene to break up a perfectly good Sunday afternoon with faithful practice, whether it be for a concert or for football games. Why then is such a routine thing as opening the auditorium door, unlocking the piano, and turning on lights in preparation for rehearsal so completely unexpected each Sunday?

The University Band as morale-builders for the University cannot continue in their capacity without a little morale-boosting in its direction. Band members still hope for the day when they will receive University credit for their efforts. But until then it's the little things that will continue to count the most—such things as trips with the football team, awards to deserving members, and, yes, having enough chairs provided for rehearsals.

Students and friends of the University will do well to come out to the concert tonight. For not only are you giving the Band a hard-earned pat on the back for an otherwise thankless service, but you might, too, just happen to find the program of music an enjoyable evening of entertainment.

Mrs. Roosevelt Asked To Help

Bradley Hall
2124 H St., N.W.
Washington, D. C.
April 20, 1948

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt
Hyde Park, New York
Dear Mrs. Roosevelt:

This year the senior class of The George Washington University voted to turn their money for a class gift over to a foreign university rather than follow custom and purchase something for this University.

The seniors, Mrs. Roosevelt, agreed that world peace and understanding rests with educated people who will promote the ideals of world fellowship. We know that most foreign universities are severely handicapped by lack of educational equipment—books, laboratory supplies and the like. Therefore, we feel that though the sum is small, it still may be of welcomed assistance to a foreign university. We believe that this gift will tell the students of that foreign university that their fellow students in America are conscious of their struggle for an education and want to help them. We hope too that other college graduation classes may be able to use their annual class gift in such a manner.

We know of no American who has a better knowledge of the condition of world education and of foreign universities than you, Mrs. Roosevelt. Therefore, would you do us the great honor of selecting the university to receive the gift? The money will be presented to the embassy of the country of the university you select, and the university then may make its own purchases through its embassy.

We are very grateful for your assistance in this matter, Mrs. Roosevelt.

Very respectfully yours,

Chester J. Byrns
Senior Class President

Education Is Peace!

• WE, THE EDITORS, are sure that this is one of the most enlightening moves made by any group of college students throughout the country. While education in this country continues to rise to new peaks, the worldwide picture is bad, to say the least.

For years the educational system of this country has been unaffected while in other sectors of the globe political chaos, race hatred, and other related subjects have been taught. Winning a war cannot suddenly change all that. No, to ease the tell-tale scars from the face of the earth, we must re-educate whole countries. And still, at the same time, we must not forget the education of the young. But by what means should we do this? What would be the cost? And what consequences are inevitable if we do not?

It is clear that we cannot solve this problem with just one plan. It will take a series of plans, of which the above letter is but a plank. After all, a carpenter cannot build a house with just one plank and one nail. Our attack upon this problem will have to run along this line. There will be a series of plans—some fair, some good, and others bad. From this multitude we must select those few which we think best, and initiate their action.

We cannot delay—we must act now. Immediate action will bring quicker and better results. Whereas delay will only enlarge an already inflated balloon, leading inevitably to conflict of a more serious character than that which we now face. In a word—WAR.

"You laugh? Go ahead! You did in 1920, and again in 1933, but you were sorry in 1939. That's it—laugh harder. Rome wasn't built in a day, but it burned in one. No, this is no laughing matter. We can do no half-way jobs to preserve the peace for our sons and their sons. If they are to live in peace we must insure that peace at all costs. Education is peace. It brings peace through reason and patience.

So—let's save the peace. Insure education to the world as well as our own country. For today the whole world is in our back yard. It is a matter of hours to any sector on the globe. The days of isolationism are gone. Let us give three cheers for their ignoble death.

Have You Met...

Kay Shanahan

This was our telephone introduction to "Shanny"—soon to be Kathleen Shanahan, M.D. The "small outlying hospital" we found is the Arlington Hospital, where Kay is externing in her last year of medical school.

"An externe," explained Kay, "is an interne who is still studying in medical school while working at a local hospital.

The experience, and training I am getting here is invaluable—besides, I get room, food, and laundry."

Contrary to popular opinion, women MDs are not a rarity. We learned there are approximately 8000 females in the U. S. giving with the bedside manner. And they're competent, too—Kay says so.

Kay is a rarity in one respect, however—she's a native Washingtonian. After graduating from Central high in 1937, Kay attended Drake University in Des Moines, and received her B. S. in education from the University of Maryland in 1941. While out at College Park she worked on the "Old Liner," Maryland's weekly newspaper.

Kay's interest in science and medicine was accentuated when she worked at the Army Medical Center, the Arlington Health Department, the National Institute of Health, and the Sealtest Laboratories. Wherever they send her it seems like old home week.

Kay entered the University med school in 1944 and found the prospective MDs were not adequately represented in The Hatchet. Originating "Skin and Bones" in 1945, Kay is writing her final column under that "head" in this issue.

Kay's participation in numerous activities outside the scope of medical study have always amazed her fellow students. She was elected to Alpha Lambda Delta, the scholastic honorary society for freshman women. In 1946 Kay attended the medical sorority's (Alpha Epsilon Iota) annual convention at the University of Minnesota and now is president of the sorority. Further honors were extended her as a member of two honorary medical societies—Smith-Red-Russell, and King-Kane.

Debating, reading, hiking, swimming, dancing, and bowling are among her other interests. At present she is concentrating on Sartre's "Age of Reason." Huxley and Wolfe are two of her many favorites in the writing field.

One of Kay's favorite pastimes is listening to classical music. Not that she's adverse to modern jive—but the old GW Symphony Club got her excited about the classics years ago and at present all her spare dimes go for classical records.

After graduation (this month) Kay hopes to go to the Medical Society Convention in Chicago and also catch up on all the foreign films in town. Then comes a year of internship at Gallinger. Kay's interested in OB—that's not a man (although she's interested in one of them, too). OB is medical jargon for obstetrics, in which she plans to specialize. As for the man in her life, unfortunately, he has just received orders from the Navy to ship overseas—just before the graduation exercises! "Sink the Navy" is Shanny's favorite theme these days.

Sorry, Prof—

I don't know hieroglyphics, or sanskrit, at all. It's just coincidental that I seem to, from my scrawl.

Graduate Discusses Antarctica

● FINAL GUEST LECTURER for this year's Colonial Program Series, University graduate Mrs. Finn Ronne is the first woman to set foot on Antarctica.

On Wednesday night at 8:15 in Lisner Auditorium, she will discuss the 15-month expedition led by her husband, Commander Finn Ronne, and her experiences in the southern polar regions.

Joining Commander Ronne's expedition as recorder and assistant scientist, Mrs. Ronne departed with the 22 members in a sturdy wooden ship on January 25, 1947, and returned April 15 this year.

In a recent press conference she said, "Although Antarctica was superbly beautiful, one year was long enough for a woman to spend near the South Pole."

"Plane flights were among my most exciting experiences," she continued, "and the view of one mountain after the other with glaciers in between was magnificent."

"We had daily radio contact with the world," Mrs. Ronne said, "and a good library and motion pictures three times a week, with some excellent skiing, provided entertainment."

Members of the Ronne expedition succeeded in obtaining a rich harvest of results in many branches of science, as well as carrying out the geographical exploratory program. 250,000 square miles of new land and 450,000 square miles of old land were covered during the 15 months.

Maps will be made from the findings, and information gained on the trip will be published in one comprehensive volume this fall.

Upon his arrival in the Canal Zone on the return trip, Commander Ronne announced that he hoped to return to the Antarctic to continue geographical and scientific exploration. He stated that the results of his expedition during the past year had been so fruitful in these fields that he would like to make further investigations in this sector.

While flying along the 100-foot ice shelf which terminates the Weddell Sea, Commander Ronne discovered the Larry Gould Bay. It is his belief that, providing a ship could penetrate the Weddell Sea's belt of pack ice, Gould Bay would offer an ideal location for establishing a future base.

Commander Ronne still believes that a small group of well-selected men can most effectively accomplish a well-rounded program. His expedition contained 23 members who were qualified to carry on a flying program with three planes, a surface trail program, and scientific studies, as well as being qualified to man and operate the expedition's ship to and from the Antarctic.

Sigma Nu Honored

During the May Day ceremony Dr. Burnice Jarman, registrar, awarded the Student Council gold cup for the best carnival booth to Sigma Nu for their "Showboat." Chairmen of the booth were Milton Smith and Jack Wiggins. Second place was won by Pi Beta Phi, for their Wax Works, chairman Marilyn Brownfield and Adeline Andrews, and third place went to Delta Zeta for their "Showers and Flowers," chairman, Barbara McCall.

Dr. Jarman also presented certificates to those students who appeared in the 1947-48 edition of "Who's Who Among Students in American Colleges and Universities." Those receiving the award include Sue B. Berger, Dorothy B. Baines, Sally Chew Dessez, Janet Doidge, John Dwyer, Mrs. Jean Ferguson Dwyer, Barbara Hanby, Lew Hoffacker, Fremont Jewell, Claire B. Jennings.

Others awarded were Betty Keeler, Virginia Ann Myers, Thomas Lee Hurst, Katherine Killeen, Eugenia Lee, Mary Olga Longley, Richard W. Johnson, Mary Alice Novinger, Joy C. Saalfrank, Shirley B. Smith, James Taylor Speaks, William Warner, William A. Wendt, Lawrence Woodward, and Mrs. Nancy Hanck Woodward, Dorothy Henry, William Rockwood, and Peter Labukas also appeared in "Who's Who" but could not be present to receive their awards.

High Schools Welcomed

The May Day ceremony in Lisner

opened with a welcome to the high school students by Fremont Jewell and Dean Myron L. Koenig, the latter substituting for President Marvin who was unable to attend. Jewell also introduced Bill Warner, president-elect of the Student Council.

Entertainment following the queen's coronation included "Stars in Your Eyes" sung by Betty King, accompanied by the Band under the direction of Major Leon Brusiloff, "Sabre Dance" played by the Band, followed by a polka performed by Kitty Killeen and Tom Pence, and "Golden Days" sung by the glee club. The program closed with the playing of the Alma Mater.

Assisting at Lisner as ushers were Pete Smith, Lohand Roberts, Jerry Brastow, and Jake Baer.

After the May Day Ceremony, the festivities continued in the gymnasium, where various University organizations had set up booths. Adding real carnival atmosphere to the event were Delta Tau Delta's pie throw, Delta Gamma's Dunk Her, and ISA's Idiot Photo booth. In addition, there were three refreshment booths selling hot dogs, soft drinks, cakes, and sugared apples, run by Phi Mu, Alpha Delta Pi, and the Martha Washington Club. On Lisner Terrace Ray Payne's orchestra provided the music for KA's taxi dance.

The Spring Festival started Friday, at 4 p.m., when over 160 high school seniors were registered and feted at a tea in Strong Hall. They were taken on a tour of the University by members of Alpha Theta

Debaters Take Top Honors In Tournament

● CONCLUDING THIS year's debating season, the University affirmative team of Henry Krebs and Charles Lillen won first place last Friday and Saturday at the Marshall-Wythe Debate Tournament, held at William and Mary College, in Williamsburg, Virginia.

On the negative side, Colonial debaters Elaine Langerman and Ann Pasternack placed second to the U. S. Naval Academy team. Topic of the tournament was "Resolved, That a Federal World Government Should Be Established."

Other participating colleges were the University of Georgia, Washington and Lee, University of Indiana, University of West Virginia, Saint Helena College, Kent State University, Lynchburg College, University of Virginia, and United States Naval Academy. Each college entered one affirmative and one negative team.

There were five preliminary rounds of debate, in which teams were judged according to the point system. After the last round of debate, the affirmative team with the greatest number of wins was called the leading affirmative team, and the negative team with the greatest number of wins, the leading negative team.

Since more than one affirmative and one negative team had the same number of wins (four wins out of five debates), the leading teams were decided by determining the team with four wins which also had the highest number of accumulated points in its category.

The decision left Krebs and Lillen facing the Navy negative team, which had previously defeated the University debaters in a preliminary round. This final meet was won by Krebs and Lillen, who received a gold cup for the University.

This tournament was the third, and final, one of the year. The first tournament the University attended was at Boston University. Lillen and Krebs were eliminated in the quarter-finals by Army, who placed second in the tournament. Then, the University debaters went to the Grand National at Mary Washington College, where Misses Langerman and Pasternack won the women's debate and finished as the second highest team in the whole tournament.

● UNDER THE Chairmanship of Professor George M. Koehl of the Department of Physics, the special committee to revise the system of penalties applicable to cases of academic dishonesty, has recommended to the student body and the faculty that they re-read and re-emphasize the regulations—as stated in the catalogue on pages 35 and 40.

The Hatchet quotes these statements:

1. "A student guilty of dishonesty in examinations may be deprived of credit for the courses in which dishonesty occurs and may be dismissed from the University."

2. "The right is reserved by the University to dismiss or exclude any student from the University, or from any class or classes, whenever, in the interest of the student or the University, the University Administration deems it advisable to do so."

It is the expectation of the committee that these regulations shall be rigidly carried out. The committee further points out that inasmuch as the Office of Admissions demands the utmost in integrity in the selection of new students or the re-admission of former students, it is but logical that that same degree of integrity shall be maintained if the student is to remain within the University.

President Marvin in talking to the general faculty of the University about the question of examinations called for a "dignified examination." If there is to be this dignity in relationship to a vital portion of the academic experience, the responsibility rests upon the student and the faculty member if realization is to be established.

Infractions should be reported by the individual instructor to the departmental executive officer and in turn by that official to the respective dean.

President Marvin is soon to augment the present committee to bring about broader membership more representative of the full University and it is expected that this larger committee will have a comprehensive report to make on the total question of examinations and academic dishonesty prior to the examination period of January, 1949.

Home Ec. Dept. Models At Tea

● HIGH SCHOOL SENIORS from local high schools are being invited to a combined tea and fashion show to be held by the Home Economics department on Friday from 4 until 6 p.m.

Members of advanced clothing classes will serve as models, and refreshments will be prepared by the advanced food class. All University women are invited.

Next Saturday afternoon our playful professors of the Romance Language Department will gather out at Picnic Ground No. 22 in Rock Creek Park for rest and relaxation before commencing exams. The battle of the sexes will be decided by the outcome of a softball game . . . well, batter up!

Speaking of the faculty, the Chi-O's held a "very successful" tea for faculty members . . . whaddya mean "very successful"? Evelyn Norwood, Chi Omega pledge, is going around wishing she were left-handed after receiving a rock from that man in New York. Also in the engagement news, Nancy Groves, Kappa, received her engagement ring from KA Orchie Bennington at the Dixie Ball Saturday night.

Somebody over at the Theta Rooms has asked us why a certain gal's eyes have turned "Navy" blue . . . OK Margie, fess up. Marcia Roessing, who also sports a Theta pin, broke into this week's headlines when the Phi Sigs crowned her Moonlight Girl of 1948.

• RAIN IN THE DOORWAY DEPT. The DG's spent Sunday afternoon at the Delt House when their picnic was rained out. Well, at least you don't find ants in your beer that way . . . and the Chi O's and KA's when confronted with rain on their picnic gathered cozily under a poncho tent as Carolyn "What I Mean Is" Moore leading the singing . . . man, that's real close harmony.

Out at the local PIKA house "Alky" Hall announces his engagement to Becky Holloway. Bill "Chocolate" Lynch hung a ring on Marie "Noblesse" Behrens of Wilson Teachers College. The occasion was the anniversary of their meeting a year ago. The funny part of all this is the way we received the news . . . some PIKA walked into the F. B. Office and announced, "Hey, did you know two of our brothers got engaged this weekend?" These fraternity boys!! How fraternal can you get?

All of Phi Alpha is running after Earl Mondschein and Ken Mines after the skit they gave Saturday night. The Phi A's had a yacht party (which almost got lost in a fog bank) and the boys got off some nasty cracks.

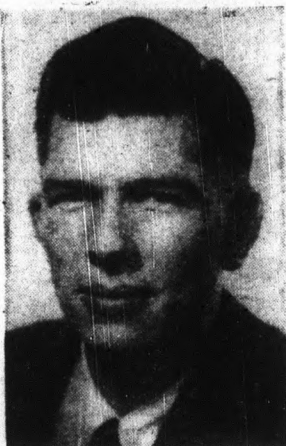

Speaking of nasty cracks . . . we called the Sigma Nu's for their fog for the bottom, and they immediately begin telling us stories about "certain fraternities" and their riotous activities. Stick to your own news, boys, and let the rest of the world go by.

There's great worry up on the SPE hill; it seems that brothers Bill Whittemore, Chuck Carlson and T. Smith had such a delightful time at a fraternity conference at U. Va. that one of them hasn't come home yet.

Sally Ann Evans, Theta, is now wearing Frank Reifsnider's Sigma Nu pin. She's had it since the night of Student Council elections, it says here. Additional dispatches from Theta inform

Crowley Composes Symphony

JIM CROWLEY

• STUDENTS AND faculty on campus, particularly those interested in classical music, may be surprised to learn that we have a composer of symphonies in our midst.

Last Tuesday evening at Roosevelt High School an enthusiastic audience welcomed University Band President Jim Crowley to the ranks of budding composers when the Washington Civic Orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Hendrick Es-sers, performed the third movement from his Symphony No. 1.

The symphony of four movements is, according to Jim, completed "in mind only. I still have to put it down on paper." The young composer has actually written the first three movements but he explained, "the first (movement) needs revision and then I'll go on with the fourth."

Jim has been studying music since he was eleven, starting with piano for six years, then the French horn, which he plays in the orchestra. Learning harmony under the tutelage of Mr. Anthony Chanacka, Jim, two years ago, decided he wanted to attempt a symphony. He explained there is no narrative connected with his work and the only thing that inspired him was his love for music—"no women, inner voices, or nature—just music."

Even though he's doing so well at it, music is only a hobby to Jim. He hopes to write more symphonies later, but his present interest at the University is chemistry. A sophomore in the Junior College, Jim is a member of the Glee Club, Phi Sigma Kappa fraternity, and Kappa Kappa Psi, the band fraternity.

Regarding the future, Jim has no definite plans in mind. Chemistry, music, Army, Navy, come what may, Jim's got one symphony to his credit at the age of eighteen!

Student Council Letter

Dear G. W. Student Body:

In an effort to better acquaint you with the policies, functions and actions of the Student Council on this campus, we are inaugurating this series of weekly informal information letters. We sincerely hope that you will read each and every letter very closely and become familiar with your Council and the part it plays in your student life.

First of all, as you may know, the newly installed Council held its initial meeting last Thursday evening in Columbian House and discussed several matters of utmost interest to you. Suppose I run over a few of them briefly. The Council considered the idea of conducting elections for class officers in the spring of the year, and all were favorably disposed toward this solution of an annoying problem. Too frequently in the past, class officers have been unable to plan activities for the first semester of the year because class elections in the fall with the exception of the freshman elections did not allow sufficient time for adequate planning. I think you will agree that a remedy is needed. However, the details on this, as with a great many other problems, will have to be worked out later, taking into consideration possible conflict with Student Council elections in the spring.

The problem of enlargement of the voting membership of the Council was also looked into, and here again the members were in agreement that such a measure is necessary. The degree of enlargement is a question to be solved only by consultation with the various organized groups on campus and by discussion among the Council members themselves.

After investigation of the Student Council constitution, the advocate discovered there is no provision for re-election, although there is a stipulation regarding recall. The advocate announced that he would prepare an amendment to cover this discrepancy and submit it to the Council as soon as possible.

And now, we come to a problem which has occupied student interest for some time now. The question regarding revision of that portion of the constitution covering qualifications of candidates for Student Council offices was brought forth. The attitudes of the student body were presented, and carefully digested by the Council members. Without exception, the members agreed that definite revision was necessary, but that such revision should not be made without very careful study and consultation with representatives of the organized bodies on campus. I should like to bring to your attention the fact that it behooves you to insure that your organization sends a representative to all Student Council meetings. I should further like to emphasize the fact that all Student Council meetings are open to the student body. If you, as a student, wish to be thoroughly versed on student government and how it functions at this university, you should make it your duty to attend meetings. If you are interested in current student problems, you should make an even greater effort to attend. However, regardless of whether you attend or not, make sure that you receive a copy of The Hatchet each week and read this information letter. Strong student government depends upon your support and interest.

The Hatchet, for next fall will carry these regularly. I hope that through this medium you will keep in touch with the functions of the Student Council. Until next fall, then, may I wish you the most pleasant of summers on behalf of the Student Council.

Sincerely,

PETE SMITH
Publicity Director,
Student Council

Kappa Alpha Order Creates Sensation With Old South Weekend And Secession

By ARCH HARRISON

KAPPA ALPHA has returned to the Federal Union after forty-eight hours of secession during which they celebrated their Old South Weekend which began in a burst of glory last Friday.

It was then that President Truman received a telegram from The Alpha Nu chapter of Kappa Alpha that informed him of their intention to secede from the Union. At noon the three-day celebration started with the raising of the Stars and Bars of the Confederacy over the Kappa Alpha mansion on New Hampshire Avenue.

Immediately thereafter cavalry detachment of eleven KA's dressed in Confederate army uniforms, complete with sideburns, escorted a surly full of Southern, hoop-skirted belles across Memorial Bridge to "Arlington," the home of Robert E. Lee, and there the secession document, signed by KA president Bill Perkins, was read.

To start the weekend parties rolling, the alumni chapter honored the brothers with an informal dance at the Bethesda Country Club. And on Saturday afternoon, the "Colonels" and their dates went picnicking in festive style. Reclining in true Southern comfort, they wound up the afternoon festivities by listening to the running of the Kentucky Derby. Needless to say, everyone stood at attention when the end of the race was followed by the playing of "My Old Kentucky Home."

Highlight of the weekend was the Dixie Ball, held at the Washington Club, formerly the famous Leland Stanford mansion. Before the dance began, a number of Confederates and their ladies, dressed in appropriate costumes of the deep South, gave diners at the Old New Orleans restaurant quite a surprise when they were shown to their tables.

The Washington Club was decorated with Confederate flags and fresh-cut southern flowers. As each couple entered, they were announced by the major-domo, and each belle was presented a red rose. In the receiving line were Bill Perkins and Miss Robbe Lush, Mr. and Mrs. C. Max Farrington, Doug Trussell and Miss Marilyn Brownfield, and Bob Reiss and Miss Jackie Jacoby.

At ten o'clock a toast was raised to the spiritual father of the Kappa Alpha Order, Robert E. Lee, of Virginia. Following this, Charles Plyer and Miss Betty Lou Robinson and Bill Perkins and Miss Robbe Lush led the grand march into the ballroom.

After the ball most of the dancers returned to the fraternity house to continue the celebration. Joined by the troops from the Maryland chapter, the Southern belles and gents gathered in the Confederate room to sing.

At noon, Sunday, the Old South Weekend came to an end. In a simple ceremony, the Confederate flag was lowered, and Alpha Nu chapter of the Kappa Alpha Order returned, somewhat sorrowfully, to the Federal Union.

Celebrities Receive Gifts At Newman Club Formal

SATURDAY NIGHT in the presence of 150 couples the Campus Celebrity Capers was presented by the Newman Club in the Chantilly Room of the Hamilton Hotel.

Feature of the evening was the introduction of 12 campus celebrities who were presented with various and sundry gifts. In the middle of the evening Ray Payne accompanied by a few blasts of the trumpet, announced Ed Duplinsky who in turn introduced the Master of Ceremonies, Senior Class president Chet Byrns. To Chet went a horn with balloon attachment and a party hat. No longer will the president have to blow his own horn so hard; the filled balloon will lend aid.

As M. C., Byrns had the problem of presenting the other campus "names" to the audience and giving these "names" their gifts. Fremont Jewell, well known as president of the Student Council and for his active participation in the pistol club, was the proud possessor of a new type weapon, a very accurate water pistol, as evidenced by Johnny Graves, the gate crasher of the dance.

Longley Gets Cherry Tree

Mary Olga Longley, Editor of the Cherry Tree, received from the hands of Chet Byrns, a novel "Cherry Tree" about a foot and a half high with deep pink blossoms. The botanists may not pronounce it a member of the correct species but it was a little more convenient to carry.

"Apollo" of homecoming fame, Lewis Booker, should now be able to clear up any five o'clock shadow quickly with his new "chick" shaver. At least it made a noise when tested. Venus followed Apollo. Marmie Winterfield, 1947 May Queen, came next in the group of celebrities present, and she received that aid to beauty, cold cream, in an economy size jar plus hand mirror and comb.

Member of the "All District" basketball team, Phil McNiff has been recognized as an outstanding athlete. For this reason he was given a jumping rope which he handled with surprising dexterity.

Katrine Neil, Co-Editor of the Hatchet, was honored with a bottle of aspirin to help solve problems which in event of failure was to be replaced by the little red hatchet. The threat seemed not to be to the staff but to her roommate's "Cherry-Tree."

Representing baseball was Don Druckenmiller who will undoubtedly be able to surpass all records with his new junior "she bat" presented by the Newman Club. Contrasting to his usual strenuous activity was Carl Butkas' new game, tiddly winks.

Henry Danilowicz of the University Players for his brilliant performances became the happy owner of a "D's Tender Ham."

1948 May Queen

The medicine cabinet didn't come with the iodine and band aids, but Pete LaBukas will be prepared for football injuries come fall. Bill Cantwell of the basketball department will also be prepared with a bean shooter for practicing aim.

One of the celebrities who dropped in during the evening was Jean Hanson, 1948 May Queen, while Johnny Graves, the party crasher by popular vote, was allowed to remain as the 301st person attending.

Special guests of the Newman Club were Father Gatti, Father Gedra, Professor James J. Kerley and Professor Otakar W. Kabelac. Fifteen members of the club at the University of Virginia were present for the dance.

The winners of the raffle held to pay for furniture in the Newman House were announced by Johnny Paciga who was in charge of the raffle. First was R. B. Stromberg, 4210 13 Street N. E.; second was Madeline Hermann, 2203 S Street S. E.; third was Rosemary Simmel, 4624 43 Place N. W. Prizes offered were a radio-victrola, luggage, a Parker 51, and a pen and pencil set.

Hostess at the dance was Marge Reynolds while Rosalie Corrado was in charge of the program. Honors for the planning of the Celebrity Camper go to the Co-chairmen Ed Duplinsky, Bob McIntosh and Alma Wyvill.

Under The Ax

By KATRINE NEIL

• AS WE CLOSE UP activities for the winter term of 1948, we're very pleased with some things and most unhappy about others.

First off, we're pleased with the Senior Class activities, especially the political forums and the job placement office. Also, with the University for working with the seniors in this undertaking.

Hope the activity shown by some classes will be increased and joined by other classes . . . Speaking of classes, we're looking forward to the reinstitution of normal-sized classes . . .

Looking forward sort of wistfully in the faint hope that the Student Union Building will be complete before The Hatchet comes out again . . . Clubs need that building badly for meeting places, also, non-residents who want to relax there between classes. Snooze Room is a start towards that, but how's about the men? They get sleepy, too.

We need 24-hour clinic service for students, now that we've got our new hospital. With which, incidentally, we're pleased. 'Tis a beautiful building, too . . .

Windows around the University need more than slightly to be washed . . . hope it's done when we return in the fall . . . especially Strong Hall. Also, in Strong, we'd like some lights that can be read by in the study lounge.

Hope evenings like last Saturday don't happen very often. We counted at least 10 major social events, all set for the same night. Planning needs to be unified.

Thanks to the people who turned their copy in on time and didn't demand certain places and times of publication. And those patient people who bore with our mistakes while we learned the ropes the hard way. Would that the patient people would stay patient and the impatient ones drop dead . . .

Proud of sailing team, rifle team, Oquassas, debate squad . . . Hope the football team gets straightened out by fall . . . Pleased with CARE drive—hope the University continues drives for such worthy causes . . .

Building F has been cleaned behind. We're pleased, because we grieved about it needing to be cleaned earlier.

We ran an editorial January 13 re student evaluation of courses . . . Nothing has been done to our knowledge to date but we trust the administration will check results of the University of Michigan and give us a chance to do likewise . . .

Enjoyed the booklet about us in the Nation's Capital . . . Too bad the buildings don't look as good all the time as they do in those pictures . . .

Wish next year's Hatchet staff less trouble than we had with improper heating and lighting, terrible typewriters, a dearth of chairs (and those falling apart). We loved it, all but colds from lack of heat, backaches from sitting on wastebaskets. Cheers to Les Oiler, who needs darkroom equipment badly and turned out terrific stuff under quite a handicap.

Like the idea of having high school seniors visit us. We're proud of Public Relations for doing such a good job of putting us on the map . . .

Heard something about banks conducted for college students on campus . . . didn't have time to investigate what sounds like a fine idea . . . Would suggest to next year's Hatchet staff that they do so.

Much thanks to Dr. Jarman and the business office for getting out the exam schedule early last term and now. That sort of cooperation with The Hatchet is thoroughly appreciated.

Hope to continue to offer Hatchets of larger size and scope . . . Gripe: We wish the school paper had an inside track on things popping around here, instead of being made to wait and pick up stories from downtown papers. It ain't fair to our little weekly.

Congrats, University Players and Mr. Mangum . . . We wish you many more productions as successful as "Dark of the Moon" . . . Also Dance

Production Groups, which are slightly terrific.

Surveyor needs polishing (growing pains, I guess) but we hope it continues. Wish Johnny Ford, editor, success with it. Good luck to Cherry Tree staff . . . we think they need it . . . Glad to see Dr. Bowman finally got approved as Cherry Tree faculty advisor. It's about time he got credit for the beautiful job he's been doing all year . . .

Can something be done about book lines next fall? It appears that registration has been expedited quite a lot, but those lines for books . . . glug!

Would like to see more and better coverage in The Hatchet of the various schools, along which line we're sorry to lose Kay "Skin and Bones" Shanahan. Now shopping for a successor for the lucky M. D.

Pleased with traditions started or furthered this past year . . . Homecoming, Frostdite Regatta, May Day, Freshman Follies, Colonial Program Series, political forums, and employment office, to name a few . . . Hope the Colonial Program Series grows into a definitely cultural and educational series, only please let them remain sort of recreational . . .

More Buff and Blue's wanted next year. A little spirit and advance publicity would help. Pleased with the record number of people in Who's Who, Phi Beta Kappa, Mortar Board, and ODK.

Very disappointed with parking situation at present . . . Hope to see a parking lot open when we return . . . Or better yet, construction in full swing on the parking garage . . .

Like the efforts of Radio Workshop and feel they deserve more support from the University next year . . . WGW is operating on less than a shoelace—scotch tape and baling wire, seems to be . . .

Wistful thinking again—hope we get a Journalism department well established at GW some day . . . Also we'll be very happy to have a music department . . .

Looking forward to the day when we have a traffic light at 21 and G . . . Bad corner, especially in the early evenings . . .

Hope we may someday have a Chapel of our own. Sometimes people don't want a Chapel service but would sure like to have a Chapel around for personal worship . . .

Glad to see cooperation between Greeks and ISA as evidenced in the recent elections . . . Hope it stays that way—better all around . . .

Incidentally, we're in favor of the increased voting in Student Council elections . . . Hope it continues without unfortunate occurrences as of the last election.

Greek Week did our heart good . . . Nice to see some interfraternity spirit instead of unfriendly competition. Needs some kinks ironed out of it—we're looking forward to it next year. It would be great, too, if the spirit of Greek Week were a permanent thing.

Thanks to the faithful few who've spent many a sleepless Sunday night with me on our pet thankless task . . . Due to them, Hatchets appear every week . . . Of course, even our sleepless nights wouldn't amount to anything if it weren't for faithful and patient printers at Mercury Press . . . How they stand it year after year is beyond our comprehension, but we're certainly grateful for their spirit.

And since, by continuing this pattern, I am further taxing their tolerance . . . Let's get out from under this axe and head for the season's final session at 14 Street.

Crowley Elected Band President

• JIM CROWLEY was elected new president of the University Band at last Sunday's regular rehearsal. Other officers are Art Featherstonhaugh, vice-president; Dolores Hastings, secretary; Jim Roamer, business manager; Skip Stambler, quartermaster; and Courtland Randall, librarian.

Panhellenic Holds Tea In Strong Hall Lounge

• MISS EDITH COCKRELL was guest speaker at a Panhellenic tea last Sunday in Strong Hall Lounge. Mrs. Lee and Mrs. Jenkins, house-mothers of Staughton and Strong Halls, respectively, poured.

Guests included local high school seniors who are prospective University students. Four to six girls from every sorority on campus were present. Miss Kirkbride, Panhellenic adviser, also attended the tea.

Sally Ann Evans heads the Panhellenic Rush Committee, which was hostessing at the tea. Other members are Pat Purcell, Pat Smith, Vivian Kimel, Selma Wasserman, and Ann Brandenburg.

Burtner Televised By N.B.C.

• "CHECK THE BOOM. Stand by. 30 seconds to go. On the air."

"This is N. B. C. 'Television Journal,' starring Johnny Bradford."

April 27th show has started. Johnny opens his show with a song, then introduces his first guest.

"Miss Elizabeth Burtner from George Washington University. You teach Dance at G. W. Miss Burtner. What sort of courses does a major in this field have to take?"

"Courses in the background and history of dance and the actual thing—dancing. This is mostly modern and folk or recreational dancing."

"And what do dance majors do when they leave college?"

"Many of them become teachers, some get married."

By this time, Kitty Killen and Tom Pence have been given the signal and are ready to do their Polka. "This," said Miss Burtner, "is a dance in the folk idiom, with the music in the modern idiom. Kitty is a senior and a dance major and will soon be getting married. Kitty and Tom, a major in foreign affairs, composed this dance themselves."

The Polka was a great success, considering that it was no easy task doing it before bright lights and in a small space.

After the show was over, Johnny Bradford expressed a desire to have Tom and Kitty back on the program in the near future. Johnny is fairly new to television and is becoming known in both radio and television.

He has a radio show five days a week, Monday through Friday, 12:30 to 1:30 on WRC. He can also be seen on his own television show Tuesday through Saturday, 7:05 to 7:35 on WNBW, channel four.

Guest Speakers Discussed UN Peace Problem

• "WHAT CAN BE DONE to save the United Nations?" was the topic discussed at the Current Affairs Club forum last Wednesday evening in Room 101 of the Hall of Government.

Following the general theme of how best to preserve world peace, the guest speakers, Mr. Alastair Kyle, head of the Student Division of the Federal Union and Mr. Isadore Gromfne of the United World Federalist presented the positions of their respective organizations.

Maintaining that the only way to keep peace with dictatorships is to confront them with a preponderance of force, Mr. Kyle advocated an immediate union of the western democracies.

Mr. Gromfne, however, contended that the best method of keeping peace is revision of the United Nations Charter in order to effect the surrender by all nations of their powers to wage war.

After the discussion, members of the Club elected the following officers: president, Dick Johnson; vice-president, Shirley Labokitz; corresponding secretary, Yvonne Innes; recording secretary, Pearl Kline, and treasurer, Natalie Smith.

EVERYMAN'S MISSION IN SELLING DEMOCRACY

By GEORGE VENABLE ALLEN

Assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs

• THIS MESSAGE TO THE student body of the University was written for The Hatchet by George Venable Allen, Assistant Secretary of State for Public Affairs.

Mr. Allen was sworn in as Secretary on March 31, 1948. His job includes over-all direction of the State Department's information program, including the "Voice of America" broadcasts and other overseas information, cultural, and educational projects. He also has charge of the Office of Information and Educational Exchange, Office of Public Affairs, and the UNESCO relations staff.

Allen, 44-year-old career diplomat, was born in Durham, N. C., and was graduated from Duke University in 1924. From 1924 to 1928 he taught high school and was also a newspaper reporter. He received his M.A. from Harvard in 1929.

He entered Foreign Service at the age of 26, and served in Kingston, Jamaica; Shanghai, China; Patras, Greece; Athens, and Cairo. After several years' experience in the Division of Middle Eastern Affairs, he was named Ambassador to Iran in April, 1946. While there, he had first-hand experience with Communist propaganda directed against the United States, and his appointment underscores the determination of the Department of State "to challenge with the truth these attempts to influence the opinions of the world against the United States."

• DEMOCRACY is not a commodity, like soap or cigarettes, which one should buy or sell in the conventional sense. It is a quality, a way of life. One must believe in it deeply to obtain the benefit of its principles or to convince others of its value.

As a system of government, democracy has had to win through in competition with other systems based on the rule of the few as opposed to democracy's many. Absolute monarchs or tyrants ruled single-handedly or through a few court favorites; oligarchies were governments of the rich; aristocracies of the well-born, etc. The newest competitors in the field of governments are the party dictatorships of Nazi Germany and Soviet Russia, where the rule has fallen into the hands of the party elite.

The only system of government yet devised to assure the rule of the people is democracy, with its freedoms of speech and the press and its tolerance of opposing points of view. Democracy is perhaps the most difficult form of government to operate, but only through its practice can people prevent their government from falling into the hands of the few.

The problem of selling democracy is to convince people, often hungry or disillusioned or bombed-out people, that democracy remains the best system, despite its sometimes slowness to act, its frustrations, and its frequent lack of dramatic appeal such as modern dictatorships offer. This conviction comes through experience and education, and can not be bought or sold for money or food. Democratic voters who are bought are no more permanent converts to democracy than are those converts to Christianity who are attracted merely by the rice they receive at a mission station.

In my capacity as Assistant Secretary of State, I am charged with the responsibility of telling the story of American democracy. In carrying out this function, I am reminded daily that this is not a task for governments or statesmen alone. Each of us, young and old, must share in the responsibility, for each of us will reap the rewards.

Before one can sell democracy, however, one must live democracy. By that I mean we must practice, in the performance of our daily tasks, those principles of self-esteem and mutual respect for the rights of others which are the cornerstones of democracy. To do so requires a positive affirmation of the causes for which we fought.

Selling democracy to others means buying a share in peace. Only through democratic processes can the people bring their views to bear and prevent their government from engaging in aggressive acts which lead to war.

We may begin at home. Let us reinforce our domestic fiber, for out of it will come the strength to meet our obligations abroad. Vote. Exercise the constitutional power of the ballot to bring into office men in whom you have confidence and trust. Whether the election is for the presidency of the United States or for delegates to the Student Council, the principle of the free, secret ballot and the obligation of the voter to cast it should remain unchallenged.

Learn. Study. Discuss. Those are three ways to sell democracy. Make your opinion felt in your club, family and community. But, first, make certain that your opinions are based solidly on the best available information. Make them democratic opinions—with due regard for the next man's viewpoint in an honest effort to share a common problem with him.

Every man has a vital mission in selling democracy abroad. If you travel in other countries, as many of you do, you can be a personal Ambassador of the United States. In your actions and in your contacts, show America at its best.

If you are in a class or an organization with war brides or other aliens, strive to make their adjustment smoother. Your attendance at a university in the Nation's Capital brings you into daily contact with many foreign persons and institutions. Become acquainted with them, show them the progress of democracy in action and you will be making a very real, very important, very tangible contribution to selling democracy and building the peace.

Bring foreign affairs into the open forums of your student organizations. Our foreign relations will not suffer by the light Americans shine on them. On the contrary, they will benefit. Public opinion must fix the limits within which our foreign policy operates. According to the collective judgment of all our people, particular courses of action are strengthened or weakened.

To many of you who served in our country's armed forces, I need not stress the mission of selling democracy. You know at first hand the consequences of failure to repulse aggression. You, along with the remainder of the student body—and in step with all Americans—must be in the forefront of a united movement to sell democracy with equal force at home and abroad.

us that Fay Rumble is basking in reflected glory from a gorgeous ring which Phi Sig John Dusenberre gave her. Good luck, kids.

• ALLITERATION DEPT. Babb beats Bing at Blossom Bust . . . which means that Gene Babb of PIKA was one of the lucky lads who served as attendant to the Queen of the Apple Blossoms at the festival in Winchester this weekend. Big news over Sigma Kappa way! They tell us that Pamela de Souza's pinned to Harry May.

The Acacia's threw their Spring Formal Saturday night, and the place, from what we hear, was really lit up, what with searchlights trained on the house and a huge twelve-foot triangle erected out front. It's also bruted about that Wilbur Van Neste is seeing more and more and more and more of Phyllis Worthington. Wilbur, the brothers want you to know that they solidly approve your excellent taste. What about approval of Phyllis's taste, lads.

The AEPI's are just bustin' out with joy 'cause they can't hide the secret that maybe Helen Du Bois will be their Sweetheart when they fling their installation party at the Lafayette next Saturday.

A big gang of the Theta Deltis journeyed to Philly over the weekend to celebrate Russian Easter, while the others stayed home and patted themselves on the back over the letter they recently received from their next-door neighbor congratulating them on their excellent conduct. Theta Delt congrats are also in order for brother Ed Morgan who will marry Chi Omega Helen Morton when he gets his house built.

Mary Miller has done it! She's captured the campus' most eligible bachelor . . . she now displays Scotty Garrigan's Kappa Sig pin . . . The Kappa Sigs also tossed a "cast-off" party to honor the removal of the cast from Bud Pugh's ankle.

The TKE's, like many others, will be heading for Ocean City come end of exams, and are likewise plotting a joint Triangle Ball with the Maryland Chapter Friday at the Hamilton.

• THIS IS GETTING OUT OF CONTROL DEPT: Janet Doidge, Chi O, now wearing Bill Kanzler's Naval Academy crest, that's as engaged as a Middle can get. Best Wishes, chillen . . . We couldn't find out to whom, but Georgina Hammond, Pi Phi is engaged . . . she's lovely . . . blah blah . . . Gene Studbs, Kappa Sig, now squires Adeline (Pi Phi) Andrews around more than somewhat . . . speaking of Kappa Sigs and Pi Phi's: they must know the weather man personally, because theirs was the only one of three or four week-end picnics that didn't get rained out . . .

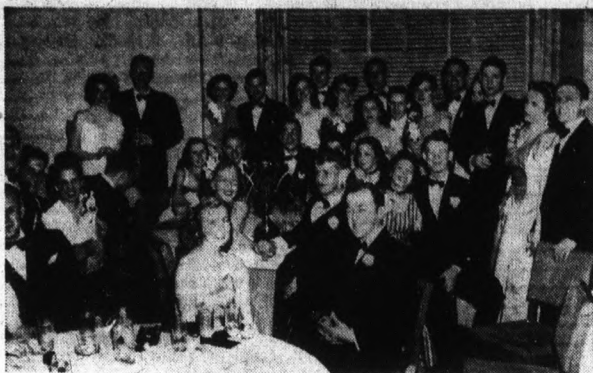

Sally Dessez of Margaret Truman's Sorority (and don't you know it!) is engaged to one certain theo student at the Alexandria Theological Seminary . . . SAE is plenty burned up because all their new records got listed last Tuesday night . . . Sigma Chi did their part to make this the damndest party weekend in all G. W. history by turning the Bannockburn Country Club into Greenwich Village Saturday night . . . and still it flows . . .

• AND STILL THERE'S MORE DEPT. May Queen Jean Hanson, ADPI, was showing the old Democratic spirit Saturday night: after cruising around and about in a fancy-schmency Packard convertible on Friday, she rode in PIKA Steve Falk's old wreck Saturday night . . .

Maggie and Mrs. Truman were honored guests at the Pi Phi Founders' Day banquet last Wednesday at the Wardman . . . All the KA's will be going to the movies this week to see themselves in the newsreels of the march of Perkins Raiders across the Memorial Bridge.

• LAST GASPS DEPT: Well, fellow Idiots, this winds up what has perhaps been the longest stretch of tripe ever to fall from the keys of this L. C. Smith under the title "Foggy Bottom," and thank Gawd this is the last issue of The Hatchet for the semester . . . be the good profs willing we'll be doing this dirty little business at the same stand next fall . . . but let's not get to editorializing, we'll leave that for the editors of this rag who are currently doing just that . . . ho hum . . . good night all.

• BROTHERS AND FRIENDS of Delta Tau Delta, shown with the scholarship cup received at Interfraternity Prom. Awarded by the University, the cup goes to the fraternity with the highest scholastic average for the school year. Reactivated on campus this year, Delta Tau Delta has given the cup a prominent place in its new chapter house.

Two alumnae members of local chapters which became national, Edith H. Cockrill of The University of Tennessee and Mrs. Dorothy C. McArdle of Louisiana State, were also initiated at the ceremony.

The initiation banquet for the new members was held at the Iron Gate Inn. Dean Myron L. Koenig for the second year gave a short address on "Selfless Service" to the group. The national secretary of Mortar Board, Mrs. Hergert Reinsner, gave a summary of the national history while Nancy Hanck Woodward summarized the local chapter's activities. The new members were welcomed by the outgoing president Barbara Hanby.

Honary Initiates Koenig

• DEAN MYRON L. Koenig of the Junior College was initiated into Phi Eta Sigma, freshman honorary fraternity, Sunday night at a formal ceremony held at the Phi Alpha fraternity house. Initiated with the dean were nineteen men who had succeeded in acquiring a 3.5 quality-point index in their freshman year.

In absentia, William Turner, assistant Dean of the Junior College, was also presented with an honorary membership.

In accepting membership to the national society, Dean Koenig remarked that the new members should think seriously about their responsibility to themselves and to the group. He stressed the value of discrimination in thought as an important factor in becoming "learned." Another thing the dean accented was that it is much more difficult, though much more effective, to inject "light" into a discussion than to lend "heat."

Professor Wood Gray, of the History Department, one of the first men initiated into the first chapter of Phi Eta Sigma, gave a review of the history of the organization from its beginnings at the University of Illinois in 1923.

Jerome Wagshal, president of the society, presented a gold gavel to Irving Taylor, his predecessor, as a token of the appreciations of the fraternity for his untiring efforts in reviving the group after the dire effects that the war had on it. Wagshal told the new members that he would like to hold forums and discussion groups sponsored by the honorary.

Other officers are Jules Cohan, vice-president, and Lawrence Caruso, secretary-treasurer.

After the ceremonies and talks, refreshments were served and the members, new and old, introduced themselves to each other. The men initiated were Sol Barr, Chester Flack, Thomas Gittings, Edward Hayes, Robert Hudson, Adolphe Kiezales, Philip Klepak, John Kulp, Albert Lloyd, John Nibeker, Harvey Otterman, William Robertson, Sanford Rubenstein, Edward Ryan, Orle Seltzer, Warren Shine, Julian Singman, Cecil Cooper, and Herbert Schnipper.

Librarian Attends Journalism Talks

• UNIVERSITY LIBRARIAN John R. Mason, who was fortunate in securing an invitation to lectures by Mr. Clarence S. Brigham on "Journals and Journeymen: Studies in Early American Newspapers," brings back glowing reports of the author's contribution in the field of letters.

Mr. Mason wishes to bring to the attention of students that the Library has Mr. Brigham's two-volume classic, History and Bibliography of American Newspapers, 1690-1820, which will prove of invaluable aid to those working in that field.

• BILL WENDT of Sigma Nu Fraternity receiving the cup for the best booth in the May Day Carnival from Dr. Burnice Jarman. The booths were judged by representative of high school newspapers before the carnival began and the cup was presented at the ceremonies in Lisner Auditorium. Pi Beta Phi was second place winner, and third place went to Delta Zeta.

Skin And Bones

By KAY SHANAHAN

• BOARDS ARE OVER! And, we hope, the 80 members of the class of '48 are M. D.'s in all but the diploma right now. Only four more days of school—then for almost two months—we can sleep late, loaf, and forget we even took a blood pressure or ordered a hypo. Ah, bliss! If we haven't forgotten how to relax.

The poor underclassmen face two weeks of exams. From the vantage point of being through with that stuff—temporarily, at least—we 'em luck.

Boards deserve at least a passing mention. Monday morning as we looked at the medicine exam we thought things might not be too tough after all—and public health, pedis and surgery were not half bad. But OB really wound things up with a thud. Who ever dreams those things up? One disconsolate senior was heard to remark that he didn't think even Dr. Parks would do so well with that one. Oh well, with the service medics being frozen, they need doctors . . . we hope!

Speaking of exams, last week saw the inauguration of a new policy by the Department of Medicine (we've had them for years in OB), oral exams for the Juniors. From all reports it must have been quite a spectacle. Each student faced six inquisitors . . . on chest, heart, g-l infectious diseases, etc. . . for six minutes per. Some of the profs—there were 24 altogether—evidently barked out questions in the manner of the Lucky Strike auctioneer. The boys and girls really got a workout, but opinion seems to be that they like that type of exam.

We've been so bogged down in studying that there hasn't been much time for news-chasing. In passing we'd like to mention a few items. Bud Brockbank is the most recent addition to the proud poppa list. Being a good Mormon and a non-smoker, he passed out candy instead of cigars—for once the gals got a break.

Phi Chi had elections recently, but our news source has been in communicado on OB, and so we don't know the results. AEI winds up its year with a banquet at the Willard Thursday night.

Senior dance plans are still incomplete at present, but we're working on it. And speaking of Graduation activities, we're all very unhappy about the shortage of tickets for Commencement. After struggling eight years for that little piece of parchment it seems sort of pointless not to have anybody see you get it.

Story of the year is one on Don Glue. Seems that he took blood pressures and fetal heart tones on a pseudo-cyesis every hour for five hours the other night until he finally caught on that something was phony. Well, at least he recorded the FIT as "inaudible."

Since this is our last column, we hope you'll pardon us if we indulge ourselves in a full-blown attack of nostalgia. We have been struggling for hours to express how we feel, but all that seems to come out is clichés—it seems inevitable, finals, farewells, commencements are such off-recurring phenomena that there just isn't anything new to say.

Anyhow, we're glad to be through. It's been a rough four years in spots—especially the first year, and now none of us would want to have to do it over again. But it has been interesting, and often, great fun, too.

As a parting shot, we'd like to toss a few well-deserved bouquets.

First: to Dr. Cal. While most of us will never quite know why he finds anatomy so fascinating, still we doubt that anyone else could have managed to pound as much of it into our oft-reluctant brains. But more than the prof . . . it's the good guy we'll miss—he was always on our side—and at a party!

Of Dr. Griffen, we'll probably remember more of his terrific stories than his lectures in immunology—and also his belief that no student should be conditioned in a one hour course!

To Dr. Parks, a bunch of big red roses for an OB set-up we're convinced is the best in the country. He really cracked the whip, but by golly we sure know some OB. And we appreciate his knowing us so well that he could conduct CPC calling on us by our first names—and nicknames.

Dr. Blades' reorganization of the surgery set-up deserves an armband, too. His conferences at Gallinger were really terrific. We especially loved the day he turned the tables and had the class prexy conduct the conference, while he and the staff made like students complete with hemming and hawing and issue-dodging.

We're all enthusiastic over Dr. Brown as chief of medicine. His CPC's have been terrific. As one guy put it "He scatters pearls so fast I can't even pick 'em up much less string 'em." Parenthetically we might add that there's been much caustic comment among the students about the recent lack of attendance of the staff men at CPC's.

There are dozens of other people we'd like to mention but we're running out of space. But we can't omit Miss Breen. She's helped all of us out of many a spot. And is she ever a good pal to have around at a banquet—or a dance. Also a general nod in the direction of the office gals. Beside being swell kids they are also remarkably easy on the eyes which may account for the number of students to be found hanging around the office.

Finally—a few gripes. The new regime of afternoon lectures for the seniors we consider distinctly poor. We're dead tired to begin with. If you get through early at the hospitals, as we do sometimes, it's a terrific chore to struggle downtown to an often-boring lecture.

Most of us would like more time at St. E's. It was a good service—and well-planned—but too brief. On the other hand, there was too much time wasted on Public Health. Lots of it seemed pointless, but even so, with good planning it could probably be condensed into a week.

The consensus is that Garfield gym was time lost, too. We missed

'47 Cherry Tree Still Available

• LARRY WOODWARD, circulation manager of the 1947 Cherry Tree, announces that the Cherry Tree office will be open for persons to pick up their yearbooks during the following hours: daily from 12 to 1 p. m. Tuesday and Thursday from 5:30 to 6:30 p. m., and Wednesday from 3 to 6 p. m.

Subscribers are requested to bring their receipts. If they do not have a receipt, they should bring some other means of identification. If picking up a yearbook for someone else, they should have either the person's receipt or a note authorizing them to pick it up.

it, due to vacation, so can't express a personal opinion. The new course in therapeutics was a swell idea, but why not talk about some things we don't know about (as we requested several times) instead of rehashing peptic ulcer, rheumatic fever, penicillin, etc., for the hundredth time.

But all altogether, it's been a good four years. To be true we've got memories to last a lifetime. There'll never be any better dances or picnics than we had.

And we'll always chuckle when we recall the Dean's "We do have seniors—don't we?" Or Crud McFall's "Well, it all depends on the skill of the operator." Or the prize Ostrowicz "Chareot's tread is tremor nystagmus—and scanty speech."

Pardon us while we take time out to weep in our beer. We've loved writing this stuff—if you've enjoyed reading it half as much as we've liked writing it, 'twas worth all the missed sleep, frantic phone calls and hectic trips back and forth from Virginia.

We want to say a special thank you to The Hatchet editors for their tolerance toward our non-chance about deadlines.

We could write on for pages, but this will have to stand for a summary "Condition on Discharge—Improved."

Nu, scholarship holders' club, with president Paul Garrett and past president Dick Scott, acting as chairmen.

After the tour the students enjoyed a buffet supper in the Student Club with their sponsors. They were welcomed by Dean Koenig and heard Barbara Hanby, president of Mortar Board, discuss honoraries and Lew Hoffaker, Student Council Activities Chairman, talk about activities offered in the University.

Show Presented

A show followed, emceed by W. Johnson, and including songs by Cochran and Rosemary Glenn, a skit by Shirley Smith. Singing of school songs closed the program. The pupils were then invited to attend the ceremony in Lisner and the carnival in the gym afterwards, and were given a handbook and a pictorial catalogue of the University.

The Spring Festival was under the general direction of Jim Speaks, who was aided by Pat Wiggins and Phil Floyd, assistant directors. Others on the committee included Joan Suppes, Dottie Baines, Dwight Worden, Milton Smith, and Sally Ann Evans.

Vets Select Queen

May Queen Jean Hanson was selected April 26 at Walter Reed Hospital by five convalescent veterans from fifteen contestants. The boys there witnessed, in addition to a show put on by some University students, songs and skits by Xavier Cugat and Harvey Stone, who were then appearing at the Capitol Theatre.

The gifts sent to Miss Hanson included candy from Fanny Farmer, a compact from Julius Garfinkel, two theatre tickets from the Dupont Theater, a pin from Erlebach, Inc., lingerie from the Clothes Horse, a record album from the Disc Shop, and a blouse from McBride's Gown Shop.

She also received shoes from J. & J. Slater, soap from Schwartz's Drug Store, an orchid from Hoyt's Flower Gallery, four books from White's Book Shop, vases from the Game Room, perfume from Robert of Paris, a pin from Madame Reiss, a gift from Jo van der Loo, a portrait from Underwood and Underwood, and a hat designed by Madame Chautemps, wife of the former premier of France. On Friday Helena Rubenstein, Inc., gave Miss Hanson a complete beauty treatment and hair design.

After the coronation ceremony in Lisner the Queen and her escort, Phil Floyd, were guests of the management at the Palladian room at the Shoreham Hotel.

Veteran Transfers Should Notify VA Immediately

STUDENT VETERANS studying under the GI Bill who want to transfer to another school this summer should notify the Veterans Administration at least 30 days before they intend to make the change, the VA Regional Office said today.

To enroll at a new school, a veteran needs a supplemental certificate of eligibility which shows his remaining educational entitlement. Veterans attending schools in the Washington area may obtain this certificate from the Regional Office, 1825 H Street.

Veterans planning to change schools for the summer, and return to their present school next fall, must obtain two supplemental certificates from the VA. One must be obtained before entering summer school and the second before returning to the first school.

Each veteran's application must be accompanied by a statement from his present school showing that his progress has been satisfactory. Student veterans may not transfer to other schools before the end of any term for which tuition has been paid by the government.

Slide Rule Slants

By LARRY BROWN

ELMER SUNDAY not only brought recognition to the University by taking third prize in the competition at the annual ASME convention with his paper on "Gasification of Underground Coal" but to himself as is evidenced by the fact that one of the judges has offered him a job.

OFFICERS elected to head the I.B.E. next year are: Paul Mayo, chairman; William Whittemore, vice chairman; Bernard Trotter, secretary; and Matthew Flato, treasurer. Morris Hekimian was also selected as chairman of the social committee and assigned the current project of planning the annual mid-summer picnic.

HAROLD THOMASSON is planning to drive to Norfolk and pick up some surplus radio equipment for the Radio Workshop, if he can find a truck that is reasonably priced.

BENJAMIN Cruickshanks, Jr., was elected as Engineer Council Representative at a special Sigma Tau election, and James Haskel was chosen as Guide.

Hatchet Again Rated All-American By Associated Collegiate Press

• FOR THE FOURTEENTH time The University Hatchet has received the All-American rating in the 39th All-American Newspaper Critical Service conducted by the Associated Collegiate Press for the first semester, 1947-48.

Members of the Board of Editors for the papers judged in this contest were Jean Ferguson Dwyer, Katrine Neil, and John Vonelf, business manager. The sub-editorial board was composed of Bill Perkins, news editor; Jim Pearce, feature editor; Bill Warner, copy editor; John Donaldson, activities editor; Skip Foster, sports editor; and Les Ozier, photographic editor. Barbara Hanby was advertising manager and Randy Gordon was circulation manager.

With very few exceptions The Hatchet's rating in each department was excellent and the general rating of superior was the highest rating in the semi-annual judging. In commenting on typography the ACP judge commented, "Many college papers made good use of modern types to achieve effective streamlined display, but The Hatchet goes one step farther to create a distinctive typographical personality. This is especially refreshing to a judge who reads dozens of campus newspapers."

Glee Clubs Present Concert At Pierce Hall

• UNDER DR. ROBERT Howe Harmon's direction, the combined University Glee Clubs presented their twenty-eighth annual concert Saturday evening at Pierce Hall, 14th and Harvard Sts.

A series of numbers of a religious nature by the entire eighty-voice ensemble constituted the first portion of the program. The women's club presented the second portion of the program, and the men's club offered the next portion. The entire group then returned with three numbers of a somewhat lighter vein. All former members of the clubs who were present then joined in the finale—the traditional "Kamenof Ostrow." The entire program was well received by an enthusiastic audience.

Probably the most successful numbers on the program were the "Sanctus" of Gounod, with tenor solo by Ernest Sult; the men's club's renditions of the "Angel's Song" from Verdi's "La Forza del Destino," with soloists Betty King, soprano, and Robert Witham, baritone, and Dr. Harmon's arrangement of the "Whiffenpoof Song"; the women's encore presentation of "Gianina Mia"; and Christensen's "Beautiful Savior," with solo by Betsy Ross, contralto.

The program was immediately followed by a dance, during which Dr. Harmon, who will be hospitalized for the next week with a shoulder operation, received a gift of appreciation from the glee clubs. After the dance, the clubs enjoyed an "Afterglow" at Child's Restaurant.

The Glee Clubs, who can look back on an excellent year, began preparations for next year with the election of officers. The women's club elected the following: Alice Thurman, president and leader of the second soprano section; Wendy Lewis, leader of the first soprano section; Betsy Ross, leader of the first alto section, and Pat Peterson, leader of the second alto section. The men's club elected: John Bulough, president; Jack Cranford, vice-president; Bill Hines, secretary-treasurer, and Dick Randall, business manager.

Book Reviews

By PETER MARTIN

• THORNTON WILDER'S first novel in twelve years, "The Ides of March," is a fictional account of the fateful five months just prior to Julius Caesar's assassination. The narrative device used takes the form of letters and reports written by Caesar, his wife, Cleopatra, Clodia Pulcher, Catullus and conveys to the story a surprising verisimilitude.

Clodia Pulcher, nymphomaniac and heart-breaker, according to rumor responsible for the poisoning of her husband and guilty of incestuous relations with her brother, shares with Cleopatra the role of heroine. It is Clodia who spurns Catullus, the poet, hastening his death and it is she who, according to Wilder, instigates plot for Caesar's murder.

All this occurs as the Queen of Egypt enters Rome and Caesar notes in his journal my life "is now at high noon." Later, regretfully, he writes to Turrinus, "Cleopatra is Egypt. No word she lets fall and no caress she dispenses is without a political implication. Each conversation is a treaty and every kiss a pact. I could wish . . . that her favors had more abandon and less art."

The book, however, presents Caesar as a philosopher rather than as a lover. He resembles a benevolent professor who has the world for his classroom and never quite succeeds in instilling the principles of objective reasoning. Reaching its climax in the profanation of the sacred mysteries of the Bona Dea by Clodius Pulcher, the story concludes quietly with Suetonius's description of the assassination.

Like "The Cabala", Wilder's first novel written when he was French instructor at the Lawrenceville School, the setting is Rome and, as in his first work, the study is in the main devoted to the portrayal of the lives of the higher strata of society. Though guilty of liberties with history particularly in its misstatement as to Catullus being alive ten years after the accepted date of his death, the narrative, "a fantasia on certain events and persons of the last days of the Roman republic" affords unusual reading enjoyment by reason of its skillful and often satiric analysis of the lives of the men and women surrounding the Dictator in his last days.

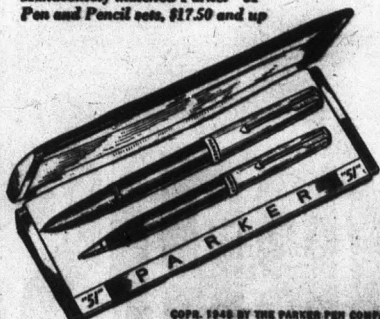

"The Ides of March," which has been recently received, is available at the main circulation desk in Lisner Library.

Buff Sailors Win Mid-Atlantic Title

Colonial Athletes To Be Honored

• COLONIALS Incorporated, an alumni athletic booster organization, will hold their annual Monogram Dinner in honor of University athletes at the Shoreham Hotel Monday, May 10, at 7:30 p. m.

Awards will be made to all members of the G. W. athletic teams. Speakers will be D. C. "Peahead" Walker, Wake Forest; John "Bo" Rowland, new G. W. football coach, and Robert C. Ruark, Scripps-Howard columnist.

Dinner and refreshments are on tap. Make your reservations through the Athletic Department.

• WHEN CAPTAIN Eric Nordholm of the Buff sailors received this cup, he had no idea his crew would go on to win the Mid-Atlantic championships at Kings Point, N. Y.

Sail For Championships, Three Major Regattas At Annapolis; Boston

• WINNER OF THE Middle Atlantic Associate Championship over a favored King's Point team, last year's Champion, the Colonial sailors qualified for the Middle Atlantic Dinghy Championship to be sailed Saturday at Annapolis, the Boston Dinghy Club Championships, and the National Championships, also to be sailed at Annapolis.

Informals To Run Today In District Meet

• THE NEWLY formed G. W. Informals have entered 17 men in the District of Columbia Amateur Athletic Meet, to be held at Maryland University, May 4, at 5 p. m. This meet will serve as the Olympic trials for this area. Other squads entered are Maryland University, Georgetown University, Catholic University, American University, Howard University, and the Quantico Marines.

The Colonial Informals figure their best chance to garner some points are in the weight events. Discus throwers, Lenny Angel, Frank Thompson and Buddy Fahrney have all thrown the discus over 130 feet in earlier practice attempts. Fahrney and Thompson are also both experienced in javelin throwing. In the shot put event, Harvey Shipman, Graham Kerr, Fahrney and Angel, will represent the Informals.

Ike Stewart and Andy Davis will run in the 100 meter dash. Stewart and Buddy Stein will be in the 200 meter dash. In the 400 meter dash, Dean Almy and Bob Smith will

Strong breezes during the afternoon led to the completion of 16 races for the University sailors in one day, finishing what was anticipated to be a two-day regatta. Picking up the lead from King's Point in the seventh race, they built up their 55-54 lead in that race to a final fifteen point margin to lead the Mariners 126-111.

The win qualifies the sailors to compete for the Middle Atlantic Dinghy Championships against Navy, Army, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Princeton, Drexel, Haverford, Lafayette, and Stevens this weekend. The high point skipper of this regatta will also qualify for the U. S. Olympic Qualifications series to be held at Larchmont Yacht Club, New York, June 1.

The National Championships to be held in several weeks at Annapolis will find the Colonials racing against top colleges from the Pacific Coast and the Great Lakes regions.

In a close series that showed a strong opening by King's Point as they took 4 firsts and a second in the first five races with George Washington trailing by 6 points, the spread between the first four schools was only 37 points at the end of the series. Sailing against Maryland, Delaware Cooper Union, Webb, Pennsylvania Military College, and New York State Maritime as well as King's Point, consistent

Buff Diamondmen Win 2 Out Of 3, Vanquish VPI, W&L, Tie GU; To Battle Hoyas On Hilltop Friday

By Herb Schnipper

• PLAYING THE TYPE of ball of which they are capable, the Colonials last week took two of three encounters, but had to settle for an eight inning 4-4 tie with Georgetown in the other game. V.P.I. and Washington and Lee were the G. W. victims.

This week, after today's tilt at Fort Belvoir, the Zahnmen get another crack at the Hoyas, journeying to the Hilltop on Friday to meet the traditional rivals. A victory over Georgetown would be just what is needed to round out an already assured successful ball season. Coach Zahn hopes to have his ace left-hander, Phil King, ready for the Hoya game. Saturday, the Colonials move back to the Ellipse for a game with Davidson. Last Monday, little Gene Gould had to go eleven innings on the mound for G. W. before he could gain an impressive 4-3 victory over Virginia Tech. But for faulty fielding and the left-field sun, Gould may well have had a shut-out to his credit. V.P.I. came into the ninth inning trailing 3-1, but tied it up as Frank Cavallo lost a high fly in the sun, allowing two runs to score. But Gould, undismayed, put down the Engineers 'til the scales of justice became balanced in the eleventh. Joe Famullette, who's been walloping the ball at an amazing clip in his last few games, led off that frame with a double to right center, and came in with the deciding run as the V.P.I. left-fielder completely lost Kuldell's fly ball in the sun. It was Gould's third win of the year.

On Tuesday, Phil King locked horns with Tommy Flynn of Georgetown in a scoreless duel for four innings. In the fifth, the Hoyas took a one-run lead only to lose it when G. W. came up with a couple in their half of the fifth. Back came Georgetown with three runs to gain a 4-2 lead in the seventh. Joe Dileo's triple being the big blow of the rally. But a two-out single by Bunny Citrenbaum tied it up for the Colonials in their seventh. After both sides went scoreless in the eighth, the umpires halted the game due to a steady downpour of rain, and the game went into the books as a 4-4 tie. Thursday, the Colonials looked very impressive as they topped Washington and Lee, 6-2. The victory was particularly sweet as it avenged a previous one-run extra inning loss to the Generals. Tim Shank got credit for his first win with a fine seven-inning stint on the mound. "Bones" Becraft came on in the eighth to help the slightly tiring Shank and to preserve the victory.

G. W. now has an 8-4 won and loss record. In Southern Conference competition they stand 4-3. Six more games remain to be played with the finale against Virginia, at Charlottesville, on May 26. (See AVERAGES, Page 19)

The Way I See It

By IRA KALFUS

• LAST WEEK we called a spade a spade, when we stated that college baseball, for some reason is sinking into obscurity. No one can seem to put their finger on any distinct faults, but everyone seems to agree something is wrong.

What is wrong with college baseball?

If baseball is the national pastime—why has it fallen to third rank behind football and basketball on the nation's campuses? Why is it a dying sport at college—played by a few and watched by mere hundreds?

Varsity Magazine asked these questions of Babe Ruth, Branch Rickey, and Red Rolfe (among others) in its April issue. Their answers are interesting. Here they are—

Babe Ruth had this comment. "What hurts college baseball is mainly the colleges themselves. While they permit our national pastime to lag on their campuses, football has received such over-emphasis that one poll showed that the average salary of football coaches is 20% more than professors' salaries. They offer ball-players no publicity, no scholarships, and they rarely go out to hunt for high school talent."

Branch Rickey: "Varsity Magazine heard college baseball put the blame on organized baseball—but I've told colleges that if they stay out of the pro field, we'd stay out of the college field, there isn't a pro ball club in the country that doesn't have written evidence in quantity that some colleges have induced talented ball-players to enter school."

Red Rolfe: "Back in the days when I coached Yale, I found no lack of interest in baseball. I think the situation today can be remedied by the following suggestions: organize baseball coaching staffs the way you do in football, emphasize games with outstanding rivals, get better publicity for the players and games, provide better uniforms and equipment, and support the National Collegiate Athletic Association championships..."

As far as the University is concerned, our hands are clean. The Administration seems to be behind our baseball progress. We have a well organized ball team, a first class schedule, and a top-flight coach. If all other schools could boast the same, the collegiate baseball problem would be squashed.

King A Threat To Foes Sigma Chi As Batter, Moundsman Wins Loop Crown, 8-2

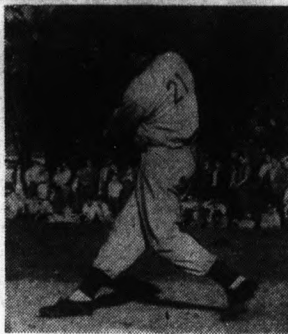

By HERB SCHNIPPER

• ALTHOUGH LEADING the G. W. baseball team in hitting with a .391 average, Phil "Pete" King is currently regarded, along with Gene Gould, as a mainstay of Coach "Otis" Zahn's pitching staff.

Oddly enough, King started as a pitcher for G. W., was temporarily converted to an outfielder, and is now once again toting the rubber as a moundsman. King, now in his second year as a member of the baseball team, pitched for Coach Vic DeAngelis last year, and also doubled as a pinch-hitter. After winning his first start of the year against Michigan, King didn't make another appearance on the hill 'til the first W & L game, when he worked a brief relief job. In the meanwhile, Coach Zahn played Phil in right field to utilize his great left-handed hitting power.

In the second Maryland game, King was called upon as a surprise starter, and the six-foot left-hander turned in the best hurling job we've seen this season, a neat six hit shut-out. It was that performance that merited Pete the assignment against Georgetown last Tuesday. He worked eight innings in a constant rainfall but did an admirable job in holding the Hoyas to six hits and four runs, three of which might have been avoided with better support afield.

The slugging pitcher came to

PHIL KING

G. W. from Mt. St. Joseph's in Baltimore in 1941 on a football scholarship. The army grabbed Phil, however, and he didn't return to "G" Street 'til February '46. Twenty-four years old now, Phil has another year's baseball eligibility after this one.

It looks as if Phil has nothing to worry about as far as his ball playing is concerned. If his pitching arm should go bad, his batting eye would keep him in there. But by the way his arm has been behaving in his mound appearance this year, the name "Phil King" is due to become a very memorable one in George Washington baseball annals.

Intramural Awards' Night On May 6; All Students Invited

• JOE KRUPA has announced that on May 6, at 8:30 p. m., the annual Intramural Awards Night will take place in the University Student Club. Outstanding individuals and teams participating in intramural activities will be awarded keys and trophy cups. The affair will be highlighted by a special award to the leading organization and individual taking part in the Intramural program. The winners of these special awards have not yet been decided, and will not be divulged until the eve of May 6. All University students are invited to attend. Refreshments will be served.

The following are the award winners:

Football, Dodgers; Basketball, Yankees; Volleyball, Kappa Alpha; Table Tennis, Hal Green, Norm Dancy; Boxing, Kappa Sigma; Wrestling, Kappa Alpha; Bowling, Pharmacy, Geo. Krueger; Foul Shooting, A. E. Pi, Norm Lavole; Swimming, Aquamen; Track, Commandos; Wt. Lifting, Kappa Sigma; Softball, Sigma Chi; Golf, Sigma Chi; Fencing, Sigma Chi; Pistol, Geo. Bauerschmidt; Badminton, Maynard Halthcock.

• SIGMA CHI conquered the Bradley Hall Dodgers, 8-2 to win the Intramural softball championship, at the Ellipse Sunday.

The game was featured by the four hit pitching of Sigma Chi's Jim Haahr, who did not allow a Dodger run to cross the plate after the third inning.

The Dodgers showed their only sign of strength in the third inning when Angelo Landold's hard hit double chased two Dodgers home.

The first Sigma Chi run was scored in the second inning, when Dick Koester propelled the first pitch thrown at him for a home run. The Sigma Chi men caught fire in the third stanza and laced out six successive singles and when the inning was over six runs had dented home plate. The newly crowned champions got another single tally in the sixth, and that ended the scoring for the day.

Marty Gross was a defensive standout for the Dodgers, making two great catches in left field.

Phi Alpha Bowls Over Kappa Alpha

• PHI ALPHA took the Inter-Fraternity Bowling Crown Friday night by downing KA in a best-two-out-of-three match at the YMCA. At the same time Delta Tau Delta beat out Phi Sig for third place in the frat standings.

KA's Norman Dancy, Jim Peters, Joe Crupper, Jim Popham, and Bob Tull drubbed the Phi A team of Marty Becker, George Krueger, Al Grenadier, Al Harrison, and Jordan Himmelfarb in the first game of the match by a score of 502 to 477.

Egged on by a score of rooters and a mascot in the form of a tan cocker spaniel, the Phi Alpha team, with "Chinky" Sadur substituting for Becker, rolled their way to victory, 496 to 488.

General excitement and heart-thumping ran rampant in the third game as Irv Kolker, a Phi A spectator, jumped up and hit his head on the ceiling necessitating four stitches. The Phi Alphans marked up a slew of strikes and spares to down the KA's 543 to 470. Al Grenadier of the Phi A's racked up a score of 150 to help his team along in the clincher.

Former Ball Star On Campus

• VINCENT DE ANGELIS, former George Washington baseball star, is still with the University. He embarked on his baseball career at Erasmus Hall High School in Brooklyn, where he was chosen as the outstanding baseball player in the metropolitan area of New York. As a pitcher at Erasmus he was presented the Babe Ruth Trophy; when Vinnie brought his pitching prowess to G. W., where he pitched with the first nine in 1935, '36 and '37. He was captain of the baseball club during the 1936 season, in which GW lost only one college game. Vinnie was also halfback on the football team in 1936 and was the first manager of the Student Club, holding the position for 6 years. He was a member of the Student Council during 1937-38 and was also student director of intramural athletics.

In 1938, during his junior year, Vinnie was initiated into Omicron Delta Kappa, men's honorary activities fraternity. In 1939 De Angelis was selected from his graduating class by a faculty committee to enter the G. W. Hall of Fame on the basis of his activities, scholarship and general worthiness of recognition. He received the ODK Senior Award for being the outstanding member of his class.

Vinnie majored in physical education, receiving his B. S. degree in 1939. After graduation he assisted E. K. Morris in coaching varsity baseball here up until the time he entered the Army Air Forces in June, 1942. He attended Officer's Candidate School at Miami Beach, Florida, and was commissioned in April, 1943. De Angelis was discharged with a captaincy in February, 1946.

When Vinnie got out of the Army he was appointed manager of Lister Auditorium, took up the job of coaching the baseball team the next year, and in June, 1947, he was made assistant business manager of the University, which position Mr. De Angelis now holds.

sailing and a good comeback under pressure led to the Buff victory over last year's champion Marioners Nordholm was high point skipper for the Colonials, but both Granger and Smith, who split their eight races, had high averages.

The series turned into a grueling race against time as the race committee decided to finish the series in one day due to a threatening weather forecast for the following day. One crew would step into a boat as their teammates crawled out. Crew substitutions were frequent during the afternoon.

The Colonials now have 5 wins, 1 tie and a second and third record this season and will be rated as dangerous in the races this weekend and for the rest of the season. This is the second time, the Buff sailors has placed in championship competition, having taken second in the Summer Championships last year.

Informals

carry the Informals' colors. John Duncan is entered in the 800 meter run. De Witt Maynor and Alex Neumark will run in the 3,000 meter affair.

In the High Jump it will be Jimmy Horn and Andy Davis. Broad Jumping are Jimmy Binchley and Bill Tupman.

There has been an extreme amount of enthusiasm and Captain Bob Smith is definite that the Informals will run a regular schedule of meets next year.

Dr. Todd To Review Address

● PREVIEWING HIS report to the forthcoming Annual Meeting of The First Church of Christ, Scientist in Boston, Dr. Arthur J. Todd, Director of the Washington Office of the Committee on Publication, will address the final meeting of the Christian Science Organization this Thursday at 5 p.m. The meeting will be held in the new Religious Activities Building, 2108 G Street N. W.

Dr. Todd will report on the increased activities of the Committee on Publication throughout the world. Although he will deal directly with the activities of the Washington office, the report will represent the duties of the committees in each of the forty-eight states. The work of the different offices is coordinated under the Board of Directors of the Mother Church.

Reflecting the importance of Washington as the international office of the Committee on Publication, the Board of Directors of the Mother Church recently announced the acquisition of property on Eye Street to be used for a joint reading room for the five churches of this city. Dr. Todd will have offices in the building.

Dr. Todd has studied in Paris and Munich and received his Ph. D. at Yale. He was instructor of sociology at the University of Illinois before his promotion to the head of the department at the University of Pittsburgh. He has been chairman emeritus of the department of sociology of Northwestern University since 1943.

During World War II, Dr. Todd was a special examiner for the National War Labor Board. He is a member of International Kriminalistische Verein, Delta Upsilon, Phi Beta Kappa, Kappa Delta Pi, and Associé de L'Institut International de Sociologie. Dr. Todd has been Director of the Washington Office of the Christian Science Committee on Publication since 1944.

SAM Meeting Is in Room One

● THE SOCIETY for the Advancement of Management, sponsored jointly by Dean Frederick M. Feiker of the School of Engineering and Dr. Richard N. Owens of the School of Business Administration, will hold a meeting in Room One of the Hall of Government tomorrow night at 8.

Paul M. Camp and Dr. C. T. Clifton, personnel consultants, will be guest speakers. The topic will be "The Strategy of Job-finding." All University students are invited to attend.

WHY... I smoke Chesterfield

(FROM A SERIES OF STATEMENTS BY PROMINENT TOBACCO FARMERS)

I have done business with Liggett & Myers for over 40 years. They buy the best crops in the house at the auctions.

I am exclusively a Chesterfield smoker. I think they are the best cigarette made.
